Making a complaint in l'Arche

Receiving feedback and responding to complaints

Receiving feedback and responding to complaints is an important part of improving l'Arche International's accountability and our commitment to keeping our members safe from harm. We want all our members and stakeholders to know they can speak up if they see things that are causing harm and we want them to know what they can expect if they do raise concerns. Ensuring our members and stakeholders can hold us to account will improve the quality of our work in all areas.

How to make a complaint

If you wish to share a concern or if you need to report a safeguarding incident, please contact the person in charge of safeguarding at the local or national level. If there is no such a role please speak to your community leader, the national leader or the international envoy.

In some situations, when a complaint cannot be made at the local or national level, either because it is not safe or the case involves people in leadership roles, the complaint can be shared with l'Arche International Response Team.

You can contact the International Safeguarding Response team

by mail ireport@larche.org

What is a complaint?

A complaint is an expression of dissatisfaction about actions or lack of action that violates our code of conduct and/or about the standards of service provision. It is a criticism that expects a reply and a resolution.

For example:

- A concern about the behaviour of staff and others associated with l'Arche
- Physical, emotional and psychological abuse including bullying, harassment and wilful negligence
- Sexual exploitation and abuse (including gender-based violence)
- Fraud and corruption
- Child abuse/exploitation

A complaint is not:

- a general inquiry about l'Arche's work
- a request for information
- a contractual dispute
- a request to amend records
- issues regarding internal staff employment conditions, which are dealt exclusively through appropriate country legislation and HR policies and procedures.

The team will help you if you need clarification in this.

If you want to read more you can find the complete l'Arche International Complaints Policy and Procedure on the International website under number DI- 370-04
